Lesson 12  *June 13–19

Community

Sabbath Afternoon

Read for This Week’s Study:  Gen. 11:1–4, 12:1–3, 1 Cor. 12:12–27, Eph. 4:1–13, Rev. 22:1–6.

Memory Text:  “Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it” (1 Corinthians 12:27, NIV).

Humans are social beings. God could have created a hundred million perfect human beings as “stand alones,” each of whom would pursue his or her own independent goals. Instead, He first created one male and one female and stated that it would not be good for man to be alone. The first couple was to complement each other. And they were to multiply and create a community of family members and eventually larger social units.

One of the most important social units to which people can belong is their church. Unfortunately, many people no longer recognize the social benefits of church membership. Of course, the church is more than a club for men and women who happen to share a certain interest. The church is a community of believers who share in the ultimate experience of salvation and recognize Christ as their Lord.

The Week at a Glance:  Believing and belonging are closely linked. God wants us to be part of the community that He has initiated. It is a privilege to belong to that community, but it also carries responsibilities. We all have our unique contribution to make to the body of Christ.

God Wants a People

In Genesis 11 we find the record of an experiment in community building that did not meet with God’s approval. When, after the world-wide Flood, the descendants of the original survivors decided to stick together and build a city with a huge tower in the southern part of what is now Iraq, God was extremely displeased. This was not what God had intended. Yet, in the following chapter—Genesis 12—the idea of community building is once again brought into focus, but now in a very positive sense. God told Abraham (who at that time was still called Abram) that He wanted to form a people whom He would call His own.

What was the major difference between the Tower of Babel initiative at community building and God’s plan to make Abraham and his posterity into His people? Compare Gen. 11:1–4 with Gen. 12:1–3.

From the story of the calling of Abraham onward, the Old Testament centers on the experiences of the people of God, their failures and their triumphs. The people of Israel had the mission of making their covenant-God known to all other nations. They were to prepare the way for the coming of the Messiah. We know how, as a people, Israel failed to accomplish its task. When the Messiah came, He was rejected and killed as a criminal by certain leaders who should have welcomed Him as their Redeemer. At the same time, many remained faithful to the Lord and formed the nucleus of what was to become the Christian church.

Read 1 Peter 2:9, 10. What’s the message to us today?

God’s New Testament people consist of Jews and Gentiles, of men and women from every nation, tribe, and linguistic group. Like Israel in Old Testament times, they now have the responsibility of teaching others about divine grace. Like Israel of old, they, too, belong to a special community of believers.

What parallels can you draw between ancient Israel and the church of today? What lessons should we learn from them? What mistakes should we avoid?
The Lesson in Brief

Key Text: 1 Corinthians 12:27

The Student Will:
- Know: That being part of a church community comes with responsibility to that community and to the world.
- Feel: A sense of belonging and privilege within the church body.
- Do: All you can to maintain unity in Christ within your church.

Lesson Outline:

I. Community of Responsibility (1 Pet. 2:9, 10)

Throughout the Bible, God has had a chosen people. In the Old Testament, it was the Israelites. In the New Testament, it was the early church. Today, we are God’s chosen people. And we have the responsibility of being good stewards of God’s church. How are we living up to that responsibility?

II. Community of Christ (Eph. 4:16)

A This verse, as well as our memory text, calls the church the body of Christ. Each part of the body has its purpose. Where do you fit in the body of Christ? How do the different parts work together? In what ways can your church work together more effectively?

B As part of the body of Christ, how can you do your part in spreading the gospel?

III. Community of Unity (Eph. 4:3–6, 11–13)

The primary unifying element in the church is Jesus Christ. However, unity thrives on support and encouragement of one another; a church with deep divisions can be doomed. What can you do to promote unity within your local church?

Summary: As members of the body of Christ, we have the privilege of serving Him as a church family. We must strive to remember our purpose and maintain true unity in Christ.
The Privilege of Belonging

Laurence J. Peter, an American educator and author, once said, “Going to church doesn’t make you a Christian any more than going to the garage makes you a car!” Truly belonging to Christ’s church is more than having one’s name on the church’s record book. It implies a realization of what the church is and of one’s own role in the church.

In numerous places Paul refers to fellow believers as saints (Eph. 1:1, Phil. 1:1, Col. 1:2). This word has today acquired a meaning that it did not have in Bible times. Saints are not perfect or holy people; they certainly are not people who have been declared to be “saints” after a long and complex ecclesiastical procedure long after they die. “For Paul [and for other Bible writers], the term saint had none of the stained-glass window connotations that it has for us. A saint was not some ancient, larger-than-life, perfect Christian, but anyone called and set apart by God who became part of the community of faith.” —John C. Brunt, Romans, The Abundant Life Bible Amplifier (Boise, Idaho: Pacific Press® Publishing Association, 1996), p. 42.

What major role is given to those who belong to the church—the “body of Christ”? How should each “saint” relate to all others? 1 Cor. 12:12–27.

A church member is not to be reduced to a statistic. Every member of the church has a unique role to play and a particular contribution to make. No one can be missed without causing at least a measure of dysfunction of the body. At the same time, no member can claim that his or her contribution is far superior to that of someone else. The metaphor of the body with its many members sublimely illustrates this truth. Some parts appear to be more vital than others. The heart, the brain, the lungs, and the stomach may seem among the most prominent parts, but the functioning or malfunctioning of some minor gland often also proves to be a matter of life and death.

How do you fit in with your local body? Are you content with the role you play? Are you jealous of someone else’s role? Are you a dead, lifeless organ? Are you trying to take on more than you should? How can Paul’s words help you better understand what your role should be?
Learning Cycle

STEP 1—Motivate

Key Concept for Spiritual Growth: God-designed communities of faith were created to be a blessing—both to themselves and to the world.

Dwain met Gladys at the funeral of her granddaughter. Later he sought out an opportunity to encourage her and get to know her better. They talked about her granddaughter’s untimely death, but then the conversation turned when he asked her about the changes she had seen in the area in which she had lived her entire life.

“Son,” she began, “I’ve seen more changes than I’d like to see.

“I remember when you could walk the streets late at night and never worry,” she reminisced. “I remember that my mother and the other women would take care of new mothers when they brought their babies home. Adults would look out for kids, and kids would respect adults. People cared about one another.”

Then with resignation in her voice she added, “It’s not like that anymore.”

What Gladys was lamenting was a loss of community. As she spoke, it struck Dwain that God created His church to meet just such a need.

Consider This: Ask your students to share their memories of times when they experienced the healing power of a loving community.

STEP 2—Explore

Bible Commentary

I . God Wants a People (Review with your class Genesis 11:1–4 and Genesis 12:1–3.)

The Bible can be viewed as a record of God’s efforts to create a people who would serve as living advertisements for Him instead of themselves. In Genesis 11:1–4, the Babel builders formed a community with the sole intention of self-exaltation. Genesis 12:1–3 also captures the birth of a community. God calls out Abraham and promises, “‘I will make you into a great nation and I will bless you’” (vs. 2, NIV). To that wonderful promise,
The Responsibility of Belonging

Belonging to the body of Christ is a great privilege. Another figure of speech underlines this great truth: We all are part of God’s family. “How great is the love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God!” (1 John 3:1, NIV). But privileges always are accompanied by responsibilities.

What does the image of the church as the body of Christ, and of each of us being members of that body, imply as far as our personal responsibilities are concerned? Eph. 4:1–13.

“All must move like parts of a well-adjusted machinery, each part dependent on the other part, yet standing distinct in action. And each one is to take the place assigned him and do the work appointed him. God calls upon the members of His church to receive the Holy Spirit, to come together in unity and brotherly sympathy, to bind their interests together in love.”—Ellen G. White, My Life Today, p. 276.

What are some other key responsibilities for all church members?
1 Cor. 16:2; 1 Thess. 5:14, 17, 25; Heb. 10:25; 1 Pet. 3:15.

Many people live in consumer societies and, as a result, tend to bring this consumer mentality into their church. The first question often is, What is in it for me? rather than, How can I contribute with my talents and gifts? When John F. Kennedy was inaugurated in 1961 as president of the United States, he spoke these immortal words: “‘Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country.’” These words also are applicable to our attitude toward the church. Even though the church can and does do a lot for those who faithfully attend and join in its many activities, we should first of all constantly ask ourselves, How can I serve better? How can I encourage others? How can I be a role model for our youth? How can I contribute to making my local church into a spiritual home in which many can find the inner peace and nurture they need?

Ask yourself these questions and honestly look at your answers:
What is my main motive for going to church? What I can get, or what I can give?
God adds, “‘I will make your name great’” (vs. 2, NIV).

Notice God’s ultimate objective in making of Abraham a great nation: “‘All peoples on the earth will be blessed through you’” (vs. 3, NIV). God-created communities of faith truly are designed to bless the world.

Consider This: What, if anything, did Israel’s “most favored nation” status—and the blessings inherent therein—have to do with their failure to bless the world? How can we, spiritual Israel, live up to our favored status? (See 1 Peter 2:9, 10.)

II. The Privilege of Belonging (Review with your class 1 Corinthians 12:12–27.)

Perhaps no other passage in Scripture captures the essence of unity and equality that ought to exist in Christ’s body, the church, than that of 1 Corinthians 12:12–27. All members are important no matter how seemingly insignificant their contribution to the body of Christ. Indeed, Paul seems to argue that “those parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, and the parts that we think are less honorable we treat with special honor” (1 Cor. 12:22, 23, NIV).

Consider This: How should a church respond to members who make moral or ethical mistakes?

III. The Responsibility of Belonging (Review with your class Ephesians 4:1–13, Matthew 20:20–28.)

The Ephesian believers to whom Paul addresses his letter were normal, everyday folk who had come to know Christ as Savior and were learning how to make Him Lord of their lives. In Ephesians 4:1–13, the apostle Paul implores them to “live a life worthy of the calling” (vs. 1, NIV) they have received by being patient, gentle, unified, prayerful, humble, and accepting of the roles assigned them by God.

Paul rightly understood that to “prepare God’s people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up” (vs. 12, NIV), required a spirit of sacrifice. This spirit of sacrifice was one way of preparing God’s Unity in Diversity

Many Christians strive for greater unity among the many denominations. They speak of the “scandal” of division and disunity and remind us that Christ repeatedly called for unity among His followers. Unity also is a key theme for the Seventh-day Adventist Church, which is threatened by fragmentation and polarization from within. But the unity Adventists seek cannot be reduced to mere organizational unity or uniformity in worship styles and other traditions. It must go much deeper.

What are key qualifications for true Christian unity? John 14:6; Eph. 4:3, 13.

To be united in Christ means to be united in the truth. Christ defined Himself as the Truth. That is not to say that there cannot be true unity between people who differ with regard to certain theological views or in the interpretation of certain passages. But true unity does require a common commitment to the Scriptures as the Word of God and to its fundamental teachings, and a common desire to practice what the Word teaches. It does not require, however, that all members think alike and worship in exactly the same way. It does not annul the wonderful cultural diversity that so much enriches our worldwide church community.

The New Jerusalem refers to something concrete and real that God creates for His people, even if the description is highly symbolic. What strikes us as we read it is the emphasis on diversity. No wonder, because the redeemed will come from “every tribe and language and people and nation” (Rev. 5:9, NIV; cf. Rev. 7:9).

The peoples who will enter the gates of the New Jerusalem and will populate the new earth are like the many branches that issue from the same vine. “In the branches of a vine there is diversity, and yet in this diversity there is unity. Every branch is united to the parent stalk. Every branch draws its nourishment from the same source. When we are branches of the true Vine, there will be no quarreling among us, no strife for the supremacy, no disparaging of one another.”—Ellen G. White, General Conference Bulletin, April 25, 1901.

If there is to be such diversity in heaven, why is there ethnic strife in our churches today?
people for “works of service” (Ephesians 4:12, NIV).

Consider This: What would happen in our churches if together we fervently engaged in the responsibilities of membership found in 1 Thessalonians 5:14, 17, 25; 1 Corinthians 16:2; and Hebrews 10:25?

IV. Unity in Diversity (Review with your class John 14:6; Ephesians 4:3, 13.)

Ephesians 4:13 summons God’s disjointed body to a beautiful end: “unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God” (NIV) that the body might “become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ” (NIV). If this is the glorified end that God envisions for His church, then Jesus alone is the means to that end. He is the Way!

But it is critical to bear in mind that our God-given diversity ceases to be a blessing and becomes a curse when Christ is made subordinate to the mores of our cultural heritage and practice.

Consider This: If Jesus is the Vine and we are the branches (John 15:1–17), what nourishment do we get from Him that might help us use our diversity as a strength instead of a weakness?

V. The Church’s Foundation: Jesus Christ (Review with your class Matthew 16:18.)

“ ‘Upon this rock,’ said Jesus, ‘I will build My church.’ In the presence of God, and all the heavenly intelligences, in the presence of the unseen army of hell, Christ founded His church upon the living Rock. That Rock is Himself,—His own body, for us broken and bruised. Against the church built upon this foundation, the gates of hell shall not prevail.”—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 413.

Consider This: If Jesus has founded the church upon a firm foundation and empowered it to do His will, what then accounts for its luke-warmness? (See Revelation 3:13–15.)
The Church’s Foundation: Jesus Christ

We often speak of our church. We have many reasons to be proud of our church. On the other hand, we realize that our church is not perfect. We have invested a lot of ourselves, of our talents, time, energy, and money in the church and have good reasons to have a clear sense of ownership. However, in the final analysis, the church is not ours. It is God’s. And that makes a decisive difference.

What did Christ Himself state in answer to the question about to whom the church belongs? Matt. 16:18.

The statement by Christ about the rock upon which God’s church was to be built has been grossly misunderstood by many. When the full context and all other biblical evidence is taken into consideration, there is no ground for suggesting that Peter was the rock upon whom the church was founded and that special authority was transferred from him to the future bishops of Rome. Peter’s confession of Christ as the Son of the living God (Matt. 16:16) was the rock upon which God founded His church.

Consider the meaning of some other symbols used to underline the same truth, that is, that the church is built on Jesus Christ and that it is His church rather than ours. Eph. 2:20; 4:15, 16; Rev. 1:12–16, 20.

Like so many passages in the book of Revelation, the description of Jesus Christ in 1:12–20 is full of Old Testament imagery. Christ is presented as walking in the midst of seven lampstands, clothed as the High Priest. Our mind automatically goes back to the symbol of the lampstand in the ancient tabernacle that proclaimed God’s presence among His people. Before the book of Revelation goes into detail about “what must soon take place” (1:1, NIV), it makes sure that we see everything from the right perspective. It is the revelation of Jesus Christ, the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, our heavenly High Priest, who is not some distant, static deity but the One who walks in the midst of His church.

If, ultimately, the church belongs to God, what is our role in it? Are we, then, not stewards of it? What kind of responsibilities does this place on us? How well are you living up to this responsibility? What can you do better?

What can we do to expose unbelievers to the joys and blessings of belonging to God’s community of faith?

STEP 4—Apply

While many class members may feel a sense of belonging to the body of Christ, many may have understood for the first time their unique role in, and responsibility toward, that body. Ask the class to share something new that they learned from this week’s study. Then ask a few volunteers to share ways in which they can better serve members of God’s community.

“Jesus answered Peter, saying, ‘Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven’ [Matt. 16:17, KJV].

“The truth which Peter had confessed is the foundation of the believer’s faith. It is that which Christ Himself has declared to be eternal life. But the possession of this knowledge was no ground for self-glorification. Through no wisdom or goodness of his own had it been revealed to Peter. Never can humanity, of itself, attain to a knowledge of the divine. ‘It is as high as heaven; what canst thou do? deeper than hell; what canst thou know?’ Job 11:8. Only the spirit of adoption can reveal to us the deep things of God.”—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 412.

Discussion Questions:

1. Is church membership a necessary condition for salvation? Or do we join the church for other reasons? If so, what are they? What great advantages do we have being part of a body? At the same time, what things must we be careful of and watch out for?

2. Some people say, “I have stopped going to church. When I attended, it left me empty. When I go out in nature, I have a deeper religious experience than when I listen to an uninteresting sermon.” What would you reply to such a person?

3. Dwell more on the questions raised in Wednesday’s lesson regarding ethnic diversity in our church. Why, of all people, should Christians be the most accepting and loving of others, regardless of ethnic differences? What could be done to help us better live up to what we know the Lord would have us do regarding the important question of racial and ethnic harmony?

Summary: The church is a divine initiative. It is God’s church rather than our church. We are members of the body of Christ—each of us with our own distinct function—but must always remember that He is the Head. We are not called to uniformity but must do all we can to maintain true unity in Christ.
